Teen Computer Corps at the Library

Photos courtesy of Marla Bergman

Are you a high school student?
Do you enjoy helping others?
Do you need community service credit for school?
Are you tech-savvy?

If so, consider becoming a Teen Volunteer with Teen Computer Corps.

Volunteer Services and Teen Services of the San Francisco Public Library present

Show your skills and make a difference helping seniors citizens learn new technology! Training provided.*

*Students must commit to attending the training as well as 12 weekly sessions in a row beginning in late January to early March.

Please ask your Children's or Teen Librarian for more details.

Contact kaiwilson@sfpl.org to apply.

Currently the program is available at the Main Library, Chinatown, Excelsior and Richmond.

San Francisco Public Library

sfpl.org